

Matches, The "Superman"

I swear that you believed me when I told you that I was Superman With you I can even fool myself we've been friends since we were 12, now I'll be 17 on the 24th You've posed for five years on my shelf I counted seasons 'til the fall when I would steal your heart you left the scene before my crime I think about you when I'm sick and tired of stupid girls I think about you all the time

I am Superman with you Oh, c'mon, you know you're my hero, too
Oh, it might sound like a lie
But I know and you know that Superman can fly

Stared through the menu on the wall we've read too many times Lit a match to watch it burn
You keep me waiting longer everyday, but still I'm here
The more you live, the less I learn

Went to Marine World, tried to find the words to say to you But I couldn't find the place to start I love you, I hate you All I know is that I don't know nothin' and nothing's gonna break my heartbreak down to a thousand pieces

One more second with these words unsaid they'll catch fire in my head and I might look like a fool here, and sure, you might pretend I'm making this up, but I don't care.

Note: This song was on the original album that the matches first made in their basements, but when Epitaph Records signed them, they did a re-release of E. Von Dahl Killed The Locals and removed this song.
