So here I am
Help me down
Make me feel the way
That I'm supposed to feel now

Does this seem real, livin' a lie,
When you're tryin' to hide
Everything that's trapped down deep inside?
But can you bear the weight?

Carry the pain, take these troubles from my hands Leave them in this bed you made before you shut the door

Don't say you never left me
When your eyes are fighting with your heart
For the truth in the conversation

Now that I've found out
Can you feel the distance?
It's growing further
My heart's beating faster now
'Cause we both know
That we can't hide from ourselves

Don't say you never left me
When your eyes are fighting with your heart
For the truth in the conversation

Don't tell me I'm the only one
When your eyes won't stop fighting with your heart
When you wrap your arms around me
Now I'm gone

There was just this once you said
You hated everything about me
My hands, my face, the clock that hung in the bedroom
My hands, my face, even your own body

Don't say you never left me
When your eyes are fighting with your heart

For the truth in the conversation

Don't tell me I'm the only one
When your eyes don't stop fighting with your heart
When you wrap your arms around me
Now I'm gone (I'm gone)

Wash the blankets and the sheets
Mop my footprints as I leave
Mop my footprints as I leave
