"7 Minutes"

between skies and fields this land in midnight lights cold summer, cold summer till the end of time the earth's like a belly an heavy sleeping beast but with her big eyes open and cities are inside still standing on the hill the city's like an ocean enjoy the metal waves in which we drown ourselves don't you breath anymore are you far from the next corner? the race is burning the pavement welcome to the city the city's done for you yell with the underdogs make sure they won't bite you
