So much you can't get home
Somehow you lost the wind
Come up come up for air
In your mind you have feet ten

You're sure you're sure your soul
Goes up and in and down
The only dream you own
Wears you out

No ordinary joy
You'll always miss your mark
All the way
So in the factory
I knew you messed it up
With me

And now you're missing more
And now you're missing more
And now you're missing home

Uncross your eyes and breath
You'll be missing in your skin
Forget where you come from
Imagination always wins

It's locked in the froze
The day passing blue
Too much for everyone
Just try for you

It's no ordinary joy
You'll always miss your mark
All the way
So in the factory
I knew you messed it up
For me
