God sent me an angel to fix my broken heart from being in love. Take the tears away from my eyes. Giving all I can still in love all I wanted was to feel your touch couldn't sleep without that voice. My eyes are out of tears. When I first seen you I know there was some thing I thought I would never find. Oo how you changed my world, how you helped me to grow. What you mean to me you will never know. Never know I could feel each moment. Each day that passes my heart falls apart. This is the way I live. I thought should I open up this mite be the one. It's funny how we fell so much but can't say a word screaming inside, oh how we can't be heard. Never had I imagined living without your smile. I can't close my eyes lost within the darkness.
