(Raul Malo - James House)

My baby loves the things I say
She wants to hear them every day
I hope we'll be together from now until forever
Right now we're just one step away.

My baby wonders why I'm blue
When she pretends that we are through
So I'll just have to show her that once I get to know her Then we won't be one step away.

And if she knew that I was hurting inside
Then soon behind my broken heart I could no longer hide
I want to kiss her every night but now till everything is right
She will not wait forever she says it's now or never
Right now we're just one step away.

One step away one step away...
