you say that Gainesville's got no soul well that sounds like a good excuse for coming home and all these Tallahassee skylines they keep singing out a song
and know it's your song they've been singing all night.
and this Tallahassee rooftop just keeps calling out your name
to come and sing, so stay

so stay
so stay

stay and watch the stars come out and then the sun as they all fade away
i'll sing you every song I know if it will make you want to stay
and then i'll say
that I missed you
and these words
they'll convince you

i poured through every song I wrote every line that I've cried, every note that was split with this pen and every line in every song, they all seemed to come out wrong
until your song

so let's sing it all night long and this Tallahassee skyline hasn't changed while the view from every rooftop says to stay

stay and watch the stars come out and then the sun as
and i'll say
that i missed you

and I could call you "baby doll" all the time and you'd whisper in my ears you'd say "i missed you
boy"
so sing it over again, and over again, and over again (x3)

still i'll say
that i missed you

boy"
(x2)
