I went to the music store searching for an answer running away from problems making my way through live searching for somebody who had already died.

Chorus

Their gone, floating in the air All the musicians are there in the sky, or in hell were you could never have an affair

I know it's sad when people notice your talent after you are dead
I just noticed cd's are more expensive when musicians vanish from our present day
