Back to life again
The seemingly endless problems are all over
Back to what had been
A life where the good times never end

Saved your childhood
You grasped what's important
Though you did not know it
Important as it seems Responsibility too soon
Goes nowhere

You and I we're both too young to grow up
It will lead us down

There's no point to giving in
To things that we'll be doing when We're older and we've lived a bit
Taken life and wrestled it
Twenty years from now

Back to life again
You're living your dreams now because you have found out
If you don't live them now
They will be dreams forever

Dreams forever
Dreams forever
