It's the kind of day that starts bad in the morning
When I wake up to the feeling that nothing is quite right
But circumstances forces me to make a smile
And so I head up to my destination feeling all the while

Cause I burn, I'm burning so fast
Burning up from the inside
Fighting bad emotions fuels the fire
When someone burns,
Burns all day long and it pain, it just never subsides
Left them with what one desire that

Tomorrow please come cause today is
Too much to take and I know this
Never thought you would break and it's showing
Tomorrow please come or I'm going
To break out and cry, cause this has been
The worst day of all, always kept it
I was falling apart and I need it
I hope the morning comes soon cause I need it, yeah

So feeling unhappy situation
From a place with something that I didn't want to face at all
And it weighs me down, like concrete shoes in water
But I have to keep a straight face, and that makes it so much harder
Cause I burn, I'm burning so fast
Burning up from the inside
Fighting bad emotions fuels the fire
When someone burns,
Burns all day long and it pain, it just never subsides
Left them with what one desire that

Tomorrow please come cause today is
Too much to take and I know this
Never thought you would break and it's showing
Tomorrow please come or I'm going
To break out and cry, cause this has been
The worst day of all, always kept it
I was falling apart and I need it
I hope the morning comes soon cause I need it, yeah

Tomorrow please come cause today is
Too much to take and I know this
That without you I will break
And I can't take another day like today
Tomorrow please come
