I could tell my friends but they think I've lost it anyway
That this is just a passing phase
And the running will wither down
To the place I'm supposed to go
In the lines I'm supposed to know
I haven't yet figured out

They all look at me they let me go and they watch me moving
This time I'll try to be more beautiful and more amusing

Oh why can't you just be cool? Why do you have to lose
it?
Losing it 'till you're losing me
Refuse to use and choose to run
Catch me, if you want to can increase your volition
Catch me, there is more I want to mention

I could tell my friends but I think I'll find another way
To catch myself another day
And the roadblocks that I've found
So I have to gather up mind
Bits and pieces hard to find
If it moves it will come around

Chasing down the faring envy flooring new coincidence
Propelling my body forward elevation in the distance

Oh why can't you just be cool? Why do you have to lose
it?
Losing it 'till you're losing me
Refuse to use and choose to run
Catch me, if you want to can increase your volition
Catch me, there nothing left to mention

Catch me, catch me, catch me [...]
