

Until June "Nobody Knows You"

I stood outside and watched the traffic lights people walking by overcoats with heads that tucked inside and she turned nobody knows you like i do nobody knows the way your mind can move always taking me back

across a crowded street standing underneath, can it be?
dressed in faded black when i looked at her she smiled back and she laughed
nobody loves you like i do nobody loves the way your eyes can look

oh, and i can't recall a time when life seemed so down when life it seemed so down when she left

always taking me back
