can you see her little eyes can you see her little hands don't you think she looks just like me can you hear her little scream can you hear her little cry don't you think she sounds just like me you have friends and we have reasons i can't meet you face-to-face there are no corners to hide in my room no doors no windows no fireplace my love is only for me my love needs nobody else did you know that my love is a liquid i could talk to me for years i can't speak to you at all did you know that friends come in boxes save your money buy a tube let your body flow inside watch it grow before your eyes watch it grow before your eyes
