we are so fragile
advertising lies that are whiter than yours
we are so fragile
they could give us a war just to keep us amused

we are so fragile
i could stay here inside and say it's all been done
we are so fragile
just pretend i never tried i leave it up to you we are still so young and it must be wrong but i'd do it all the same and we are really so shy there's nothing i can do but believe in this we could always go home but everyone says this is the place to be we are so unnatural but you wouldn't understand, you only deal with men

Gary Numan, "We Are So Fragile", B-side of "Are 'Friends' Electric?"
(Beggars Banquet 1979)
