It was all before us, the open sky
On angel's wings, drifting through our lives
There was a storm before us, and you flew too high
I tried to pull you in, but you got lost in the night

So tell what to believe in
Now that love has let me down
Tell me what to believe in
How can I rest til the day I've found
A little peace, a little peace

Well everybody asks about you, I say I haven't heard
A word from you in at least a year or two Well I'm still searching for the answers in the days gone by
I find suffering But I don't see why

So tell what to believe in
Now that love has let me down
Tell me what to believe in
How can I rest til the day I've found
A little peace, a little peace

So tell me what to believe in
Now that love has let me down
Tell me what to believe in
Tell me what (to believe in)
Tell me what (now that love has let me down)
Tell me what to believe in
How can I rest
I'll never rest
How can I rest
