I seem to be like some kind of heartbreaking magnet
Asking around for some good news
We'll put it down to purely circumstantial
You can go back to all your happy dancing
I'll go [x4]

Watching the planes come in
See the sand disappearing
It's hard to understand
The words I think I'm hearing
I'll go [x4]

Time is too late for the winds to be a changing
And you, cast me away like some old forgotten pages
Forget about you and all those stolen glances
You know me I will move away and take my chances
I'll go [x4]

You try me out like I'm some kind of guitar
I should have known
I should have run away faster

Watching the planes come in
See the sand disappearing
It's hard to understand
The words I think I'm hearing
I'll go [x4]

Watching the planes come in
See the sand disappearing
It's hard to understand
The words I think I'm hearing
I'll go [x4]
