

The Karma Killers

"Not So Bad"

Visit "Not So Bad" on MotoLyrics.com

[Jay Sean]

Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

[The Karma Killers]

When you talk to me I'm not even listening its your lips not in the things that you say
When you walk its not about your direction its a chance to see the way your hips sway
I'm sittin' in this cafe
People talkin' so loud
I can't hear myself think
And that's not a bad thing
The coffee keeps on coming
Waiter keeps smilin'
As I'm ridin' on this river of caffeine
And that's not a bad thing
I used to feel sorry for someone like me
In a corner booth
Pretendin' to read on a Friday night
I used to say, "It just ain't right"

[Jay Sean]

How could anybody ever have any fun
Without somebody, without someone?
It never dawned on me, the possibility
All those thoughts
Of how would I live without you
Tonight you know, they're few and far between
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

[The Karma Killers]

For once in my life, I'll feel what I feel
Let it be, let it be real, let it flow through me

And wash me clean
That's not a bad thing, it's not a bad thing
As I'm drivin' home
I'm thinkin' the worst might be over
Or maybe I'm a little bit naive
But the street lights seem brighter
Every time I think of you
I just don't know what to do
And when I go to sleep at night
Regret those times we used to fight
And after all is said and done
I realize you were the one

[Jay Sean]

How could anybody ever have any fun
Without somebody, without someone?
It never dawned on me, the possibility
All those thoughts
Of how would I live without you
Tonight you know, they're few and far between
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

[The Karma Killers]

No nice, no guns
Young lives, so fun
Ghost white, summer sun
Marching to the beat of a different drum
Get lost, so high
Low cost, no fire
Church yard, bone dry
Nobody's there just you and I
Once every door opens
Let this be the one that opens wide
But are you really who you say you are You're believing dream a love bizarre
The pick of picture you're a superstar
That's what you are

[Jay Sean]

How could anybody ever have any fun
Without somebody, without someone?
It never dawned on me, the possibility
All those thoughts
Of how would I live without you
Tonight you know, they're few and far between
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses

Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

[Jay Sean]

Get caught, repaint
I'm not, innocent
Feel bad, feel good
Overachiever, misunderstood
Get lift, no piss
Be sit on the hip
Weather grass, it's high
Nobody's there just you and I

[Jay Sean]

How could anybody ever have any fun
Without somebody, without someone?
It never dawned on me, the possibility
All those thoughts
Of how would I live without you
Tonight you know, they're few and far between
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

How could anybody ever have any fun
Without somebody, without someone?
It never dawned on me, the possibility
All those thoughts
Of how would I live without you
Tonight you know, they're few and far between
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
When you move electricity pulses
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it
And the crowd clears out of your way
Now you know it's not so bad once you get used to it

Visit The Karma Killers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.