"The Reaper Waits"

Prepared to fight until I die, shadowed by fear in flames I stand.
The reaper waits for me to call to him.
This is the only life I have and my faith commands my strength.
Honour awaits and glory lies.
Deep beneath the storms' eye wakes - another reason to fight to save my life. I see you walking through the night, slowly you creep looking for weakness - I feel my heart
stop beating.
Inside the darkness I find light, I will not fall without a fight -
I'll take the pain but you can't have my soul.
The time to take control has begun, this is my time to live again,
this is all I have - this is all that I have.
Bringing your night to smother my light my spirits shield
and now the phoenix rises - this feud has just begun.
Dead silence lies beneath me like a mortuary where dead dreams linger. I have witnessed the solution, I won't suffer without fighting.
Time won't stop if I wait.
