I watched you go
I heard you walking down the stairs
I guess it's fair
I never figured you would stay

and the city sky
like a beacon shines
we are out of time

I got your note
I left it lying on the floor and slept some more while you made your way out in the snow

and the city sky
like a beacon shines

your ideas and what you think we need
isn't reality
isn't a fact
you smile with electricity
cynical pragmatism
technical health

but no dreams
nothing magical
no dreams
nothing magical
no dreams

I watched you go
it broke my heart but still I know the beauty caught
in every subatomic spark

like a beacon it shines

your ideas and what think we need

isn't reality
you smile with electricity
cynical pragmatism
technical health

nothing magical
no dreams
nothing magical
no dreams
