Must be time for a second chance

I can't escape this basement flat

Writer's cramp and claustrophobia

Must be time for a better place

My sink leaks and the rats have won the race

Over and over

Must be time for a new idea

Pack up my things, get away from here

They're never going to trace me

People upstairs make so much noise

Drive me mad with there electrical toys

Louder and louder

What can I do

There must be some solution
