it seems this lost time disappeared to somewhere so far away off this land, getting there is hard wasted accomplishments, more angry faces is not for me still i'm trying i think there's so much more to learn on how easy the all so hard appear to be what can i do than take it out on you today started off tired as usual when the lightning has struck me it was 10 am i know that she noticed my eyes stuck on her view again the week is over i hope this friday i will find her hoping she's the one i've been looking for what more is left to say grey skies, head down facing the crowd, anybody know what the hell am i singing about something i am trying to figure out
