I know I have to let you go and things didn't go the right way and all I'm asking is "what's the right way?"
to you

why does it always feel like that?
there's no one around when you need him sometimes like that
like that do you even ask yourself if you're not happy with yourself mabey when you're feeling better we could start again

why does it always feel like that?
like that
like that

why does it always feel like that?
like that
like that
like that
