That was enough for me

But somehow you stole the ball from my court

And you forced a game of one on one

That I didn't want to play

I've never had a guy to play the whole game

They always seem to quit at half time

Leave the rest to me

I never thought love should be that way

If you're down you should be down, until the buzzer rings

(Bridge)

And I can't go back down that road again

Knowing that it ends up a dead end

And although I really wanna take this ride with you

I'm not sure what our destination is and baby this is why:

(Chorus):

I can't trust myself

Cause every time I get around you

I talk to someone else

I'm loving too much about you

I can't possibly be with this perfect seed

Why, every time I get around you

I can't trust myself, trust myself

When we all alone, it drives me crazy

Cause I hate the fact that I don't want your love

I find myself pushing you away,

Then I turn around and I want you to stay

And I know it's kinda premature but I just gotta be sure

(Bridge and chorus)

Remember the time you looked into my eyes

I never wanna be with an other guy

Every time I think 'bout how you make me feel

I know you're the one for me, for real

I never had someone to treat me like you do

I pinch myself, I can't believe this true

You're the one, you set me free, I'm falling in love, and it's killing me

(Chorus x1)
