Last time I saw your eyes I thought that I'd see you again
How could I know when you said goodbye - That this would be the end of something so wrong but I thought it was so right And when you spent the night with me and you let me hold you tight
And when I was trading in for a beer spilled on the kitchen floor
I didn't pick a bone with you I just picked up and you spilled more

(chorus) Well I might have ruined it, just by going through with it
Life's to short I thought I'd take a try Did I say I'd want you back did your step mom think of that Now I'm strug'lin to get out alive, alive, alive Whoa yeah

It was three in the morning and cold so this is the thanks I get A sense of relief, stupidity, completion and regret To much was said I know but I had to get it through Where it would have started again it ended because I gave all I had to you

(chorus) Well I might have ruined it, just by going through with it
Life's to short I thought I'd take a try Did I say I'd want you back did your step mom think of
that
Now I'm strug'lin to get out alive, alive, alive
Whoa yeah, whoa yeah

I didn't want it to end like this but something else had choose our path
I tried to excessively and obsessively to make it last

(chorus) Well I might have ruined it, just by going through with it

Life's too short I thought I'd take a try Did I say I'd want you back did your step mom think of
that
Now I'm strugg'lin to get out alive, alive, alive Whoa yeah, whoa yeah
