The Up" by Utopia, from the album Swing to the Right

I can't stand to watch the six o'clock news
It's enough to give an average sensitive person the blues
I can't get it up
I don't know about commercial appeal
But what you put in your head just can't help affect how you feel
So let's keep it up

Prophets of doom try to capture you
They get around like the Asian flu
But they can't get me

chorus:
Because I go for the up (I'm on the up side)
I look for the up (That down just ain't my style)
I go for the up
I'm hooked on the up (I'm on the upswing)
I look for the up (I got my sights set high)
I go for the up

What's the point of standing out in the rain
What's the sense in looking down it just gives your shoulders a pain
I can't get it up
It's a self-fulfilling prophesy
If you look for the worst, then that's just what it turns out to be So keep looking up

The fickle finger just may point your way
It touches someone different every day
But it can't touch me

chorus

And everybody's yelling at me to get back into line
And they say I'm crazy
But still they have their sessions

Of deep depressions
But it can't get me
