At the end of the day,
there's no food on our plate.
So we beg and we steal,
for we know love is real.
And if we don't take a chance,
in a spare sideways glance.
These are all the chains I wanted,
to justify the things I do.
And when we kiss we speak as one,
and in a single breath this world is gone.
And when we kiss we speak as one.
With a single breath this world is gone.
It's a crisis I know,
at the end of the show.
People change but we don't falter,
'cause we know love is real.
This is no place to shiver,
so get up off the grass.
You were once the main attraction,
but all that's in the past.
How much is free,

for me and you?

I'm on my knees,

I am a fool.

But when we kiss we speak as one.

With a single breath this world is gone.

(this world is gone).

How could I fail to give her,

when she cried such a lot.

People change but we don't falter,

'cause we use what we've got.

And when we kiss we speak as one.

With a single breath this world is gone.

And when we kiss we speak as one.

With a single breath this world is gone.

(this world is gone)

(this world is gone)

(this world is gone)
