I see you passin by, i dont know where i dont know why you choose to go the way that your going now

You've been a friend of mine for many years for anytime, but you just arent you today, so wahts on your mind?

You just wont speak about it, think about it, be about it, gotta make you set for where you're gonna stray

You're trying so hard to fit in Chorus:What you need is something genuine what you want is something real, what you need is something truthful, i know you do i know you do

Cuz i need it toooo, What ya need what ya need, what you want what you want, what ya need what ya need

Is something genuine

You cry yourself to sleep, sleep the night but once the night is gone and you prepare to face a brand new day

You hide yourself behind that master mind your in disguise

its as if your tryin to put a mask on your pain

You dont know who you are, waht your about, where are you now?

Your becoming someone that you dont want to be

Your trying so hard to fit in

Chorus

He loves you for who you are now, and who you will be

Dont for living in truth is reality

I dont have all the answers but i know one that does, and i know this freedom of truth, i go and become

What you need is something genuine, i know u do

What you need is something truthful

chorus
