Hey Mister
Do you think that you could spare the time to listen
To what I have to say, Mister
Do you think that you could lend a helping hand
Hey Mister
Well I thought you'd be the kind of guy who'd listen
And lend that helping hand, Mister
Yeah well now so you just don't give a damb
Well it's the same thing everywhere
No one has the time to spare, to help somebody
Yeah everywhere you go, there are people
Trying to let you know
How you should help the poor and starving
But what they'll never show's
How they neglect the man next door
Don't even stop to say hello
Hey listen
What's the use in trying to say you're not respected
You have to understand, sister
They are few those who respect their fellow man
