All it took was just one look and I was sold I was sold Your skin it's up against mine now About to explode about to explode

Now it was more than just another night
And will we feel the love in the morning light Excuse me if I'm trembling now but With you it's really love

But how can they say it's wrong
When we know it feels so strong

They've got these laws against love between you and me I've got to break the chains of love between you and
me

Now in a spiral of emotion
I don't know I don't know
My heart it's beating oh so fast
It's about to explode about to explode

Now will the numbers always kill a love I've got to hide the fears I'm thinking of Excuse me if I'm shaking now but
With you it's really love
But how can they say it's wrong
When we know it feels so strong

They've got these laws against love between you and
me
I've got to break the chains of love between you and
me
They've got these laws against love between you and
me
I've got to break the chains of love between you and
me

They've got laws...

They've got these laws against love between you and

me
I've got to break the chains of love between you and
me

And will they punish me for loving you with Their laws against love
I never knew I'd be the one to fall in love
They've got laws
