Well, I've been saving my breath for another year
I've wasted my time of coming clean to you
On how I'm always catching up

Yeah, I'm still chasing my heart down 95
It's a fucked up way to live your life
When you are stuck always catching up
So I'll come clean to you

Head in hands I find
That I've been fighting the words
This just isn't worth my time
It's not a way to die, suffocated by stress
When life is a mess, it's not right

Head in hands we find
Separated by faith, that got in the way of this life
We found out ways to die, suffocated by stress
My life is a mess, it's not right

Yeah, I've been clearing my head trying to get some sleep
And all these overloaded thoughts crash down on me
And it seems that this is just not good enough
So I'll come clean to you

Head in hands I find
That I've been fighting the words
This just isn't worth my time
It's not a way to die, suffocated by stress
When life is a mess, it's not right

Head in hands we find
Separated by faith that got in the way of life
We found a way to die, suffocated by stress
My life is a mess, it's not right

Well, this is the calm before the storm
It's hitting harder than it has before
Sometimes you've gotta walk in the rain
If you're dying to find what you're looking for
Are you dying to find what you're looking for?

Head in hands I find
That I've been fighting the words
This just isn't worth my time
It's not a way to die, suffocated by stress
When life is a mess, it's not right

Head in hands we find
Separated by faith, that got in the way of life
We found a way to die, suffocated by stress
My life is a mess, it's not right
