Eye so cold now the world is dazed
Stay within vogue, go with flow: it's safe
But amities skin-deep never appealed to you
Yet the choice for loneliness means heartache too

But sometimes as a man he's breaking al the rules
He becomes a hermit just like you
The space that friends and lovers should fill
Seems one gaping void
What ever have we done to deserve this
Hey you're congenial
My brother Never Eyes
Hey you too are congenial
My sister Never Eyes
We never had the same blood and eyes
But we're kindfolk
Never Eyes

Covering your eyes from the clothes they make Closing your ears to the music played
Your lips sealed since you gave up looking for an equal soul
Since there was no out there at all
A little of your hope is taken by the wind
When things you like 'bout this world now seem gone
Smiling when tears well in your eyes: a painful disguise
What ever have we done to deserve this

Hey you're congenial
My brother Never Eyes
Hey you too are congenial
My sister Never Eyes
We never had the same blood and eyes
But we're kindfolk
Never Eyes

We love you Never Eyes
We love you
