"Always Belong To You"

All this time I've always been strong
But I've never been that happy as far as I can tell
With all this pain I've waited so long
Cause no one made me happy
I guess it's just as well

Cause since I found you, and I've been around you
You lift me up with everything you say,
And everything that you do
So I'll always belong to you

All this time you've always been here
But I could never see you to know that you were near
These blind two eyes too busy to see
This magic world unfolded right in front of me

But now I found you, well I was bound to Like summertime was bound to find the spring
And skies were bound to be blue
Now I'll always belong,

I'll never go wrong
If I always belong to you
