There are windows to help you find the way
So you can look back into yesterday
Then we'd begin to see
Just how beautiful our lives can be

There are windows inside your mind
But you'd have to leave the world behind
Then we'd begin to see
Just how beautiful our love can be

We could speak of dreams
As nothing's as it seems
We might as well let go
But I'd rather spend my time
To watch it go
Cause there's so much out there we could never know
