All alone in this world you don't want it not anymore oh no the cares of this world con choke you out you got no direction you can't find your way out trapped in the maze that you call life you're not gonna make it until you see the light so bright these walls you built them up yourself locked from the inside can you break your way out which way is up which way its down walking in circles you can't find your way around but Jesus will find you and He'll never let you go Jesus will find you
He won't leave you standing all alone He's gonna find you and He'll never let you down Jesus will find you He'll help you out what are you gonna do?
the ways of this world have let you down you wanna make it but you don't know how losing this game someone called life you've had enough you've had it for the last time so watch your back as you walk astray turn around and walk the other way you only want to live for you someday I hope you get a clue but it's up to you
