"Volume, you can see it through my eyes
And hear it when I'm wide awake
My eyes mostly stay shut when I sing
Just like when I'm asleep
I have dreams about things I will make and plans I never do
In sleep, I record these songs in my head
Drumsets taller than a house
And bass amps knocking over trees
Robots with fiber six tapedecks in them for making tapes
Things change
When I wake up I see things how they are
I don't have a body made of tape
Or headphones attached to my head
These songs help me trick myself and pretend
I am made of sound"
