"I Regret"

The girl that I once loved was nothing more than a magician in disguise
She became a bird
Flew into my life and then she disappeared
She left me standing here

I'm a statue in this town
With an old cemented frown
Standing in Central Square
I feel all the children stare

I've seen misery too long
Like an old and minor song
The days you're here with me have led to all this misery
and

I regret every second I spent with you
You'll regret those things you put me through
If I close my eyes I can see your face
It's been a while but it's an image I'll never replace

Sunny days are warm
They take away the sores
And I live in an empty shell
Nothing feels so well

Of course it's comes
The rain
And with it all the pain
Remembering who I am and who you were to me
And

I regret every second I spent with you
You'll regret those things you put me through
If I close my eyes I can see your face
It's been a while but it's bleeding and in disgrace

I regret every second I spent with you
You'll regret those things you put me through
If I close my eyes I can see your face
It's been a while but it's bleeding and in disgrace

And I regret every second I spent with you
You'll regret those things you put me through

Yes
I regret every second I spent with you
But I regret
And I'm still in love with you
