It's Always Something

You know me far too well
Like a cat who senses prey
You've got me figured out
And I know that I can't get away
And when you call me
You make it all okay
And when I see you
I know that I'm home

It's always something
She knows the way
To make it better than I thought that it could be
It's always something
That she does to make me breathe again

You know what I don't like
You know I'm often quiet
And when I cannot speak
You know the touch, you know it's right
And when it's cold, you're warm
And when it's warm, it's so hot

It's always something
She knows the way
To make it better than I thought that it could be
It's always something
That she does to make me breathe again

And when I'm old, she'll be young
And when I'm blind she sees
And when I'm gone
She'll be next to me

It's always something
She knows the way
To make it better than I thought that it could be
It's always something
