My eyes face out the window,
Your words they're hard like stone,
My mind drifts past the skyline,
Voices with familiar tones,
& I feel alright, as the truth comes out tonight...

Starting to fade away,
I careless every passing day,
Take a look at yourself now,
No need to come back my way,
& I feel alright, as the truth comes out tonight...

I'm so proud today, I've said all I've had to say, how can we live without a heart, a finish line without a start.
