Show me your secret places behind the world I know
Let me in those darker spaces a thousand miles below
Show me all your stormy nights when distant thunder rolls

Let me feel your desolation in the rain and icy cold
Show me the edges of your life tonight
'Cause we've got nowhere left to go
Show me the freest kind of love tonight
All the world will never know

Show me your wilderness Your wanderlusting eyes
Tell me all your guilty sins and all your little lies
Show me where your island is out on the open sea Tell me where your desert blooms and where your mind runs free

Show me the edges of your life tonight
Show me the freest kind of love tonight
All the world will never know

I don't care if the sun doesn't rise
Ever again
'Cause when I hold you in my arms
This night will never end

Show me your castles in the sky
We can climb there together
High above the troubles that can bring us down
We can rise forever
