lets talk about something lets talk about something new she's in my head stuck there until she's sorry and she's not sorry yet she got lost in his words well, the night before i wish i got lost when i drove her home then this never would have happened i can't even sleep
i wish the thought was gone when i closed the door and turned off the light

i never wanna see you again you left my feelings behind dont ever say sorry again it wont work this time lets drink to something lets drink to something new to get her out of my head she's stuck there until she's sorry

and she's not sorry yet lets call it a night I'm gonna go, but i wish that i got drunk before i drove myself home then something could happen that would help me sleep but i wish the thought was gone when i just closed the door
