If you were a dreamer and I was your dream
Would you give me shelter from awful things
That lead the wishful heart to bleed
That lead the wishful heart to bleed

And I cant say I'm strong enough
I'm willing to try
I won't be a burden to you
You need only tell me so
And I promise to love you more
Than you'll ever know
You need only tell me so

If you were a fortress and I were your stones
My crumbling wall might leave you vulnerable
Would you take me loyalty
Or tear me down
Or tear me down
I cant say I'm strong enough
I'm willing to try
I won't be a burden to you
You need only tell me so
And I promise to love you more
Than you'll ever know
You need only tell me so

And I cant say I'm strong enough
I'm willing to try
I won't be a burden to you
You need only tell me so
And I promise to love you more
Than you'll ever know
You need only tell me so
