pale - I see your eyes in dreams filled with love and filled with tears I see my face mirroring slow - I see you reach for me touch my face and touch my lips break my heart and shatter me blue - they seem to speak my name bow my head with memories I hear your voice calling me love - you turn and smile at me bathed in light, glowing soft breathing deep, I seem to see and the world it grows so much colder every day you grow so much colder and the dream it grows so much older touch me now I need to know you're real rain - you spin and dance with me wet and cold, warm and grey I feel your arms holding me safe - I'm sheltered from the world nothing bad can reach me here as long as you are always near clouds - they fill my eyes with grey feeling cold with all the time the time I've lost the time I need pain - the dream it fades so slow the only way to keep you here it can't fade yet I need you here
