The dreams and hopes of men

Are powered by addiction

And who am I to say that

This is an affliction

When everybody gets

Suckered in and lives their

Lives like fiction

Writing their own story

Of success

They say they want you

For your colourful evocation

The way you turn a cliché

Into a sensation

But all they ever wanted

Was that same vibration

The one that shimmers

Around success

CHORUS

Success success

Success success success

Success success success

All you ever need success
You can't be happy while
Someone else has a fistful
They glow from TV screens
Healthy strong and fiscal
And everybody slaps their
Back while you're alone
With a wristful
Jerking to the rythm
Of success
