You have to do your best to come up to par, from straight off the production line like a car,

Till everything you put on is a put-on, and you don't know who's face you're gazing upon

Could be anyone you're sending out there tonight, is it any wonder all of the lights are too bright?

And you need temporary beauty, and pray to God that it doesn't rain

You need temporary beauty, even though it might be love in vain

The world is full of little people like you, they have to read a book to learn what to do

They hang around in second -hand[?] clothes, and every kind of pressure steps on their toes

Love doesn't fall out of a magazine, you mustn't always believe what you've seen

And you need temporary beauty, and pray to God that
it doesn't rain

love in vain

Ah-ah temporary beauty, ah-ah temporary beauty, ah-ah temporary beauty

You might be the sweetest little girl in your heart,

But still the world [?] knows that and tears you apart

You think of the parties you'll never attend, you dream of someone who's more than a friend

Love doesn't jump out of a magazine, you mustn't always believe what you've seen

And you need temporary beauty, and pray to God that
it doesn't rain

love, even though it might be love,

Even though it might be love in vain
