When I get to heaven in my turn
I roll down the windows and I ride
And for a moment now the world is alone standing still
And I am the hands of time
Passing through cars and trucks on the high way
Making my way past fields of gray
I know that no words can touch me when Iâ€™m here on my own
And Iâ€™m breaking through the peed of your Something about those mountains, something about
that sky
I can see everything clearly
When Iâ€™m all the way up here
I feel the wind on my skin

And Iâ€™m free
All of the leaves have begun to fall
I watch them in silence through the crowd
Without you here Iâ€™m half way alive
I get my keys and drive
Something about those mountains, something about
that sky
I can see everything clearly
When Iâ€™m breathing the air thatâ€™s wild Something about those mountains, something about
that sky
All of the things I get caught in They just melt in the mountains
I know Iâ€™m on my way to being free
