Hey hey lady, looks like I'm under your spell once again

Hey hey lady, there just now ain't no denying these things

I will always be here

Always be with you

And I know she's said

Let the leaves fall wherever they may

But I find it hard

Hard to find people like she is today

I will always be here

Always be with you

In this time, in this time, in this time

When you lay to sleep tell me the visions you see in the night

When you turn around what kind of shadow is cast by the light

She will always be here

Always be here

I will always be here

I will always be with you

In this time, in this time, in this time, in this time (wo-oo-wo)
