I must leave you tonight my love, remain so faithfully

I must go off to war my dear, the kings await me

I will go so far away

I will always love you, but you knew it

I regret to tell you your man has died tonight

He was a brave man, he fought a brave fight

He was killed by the other side

He was killed by the other man's knives

She said save me

Save me

Why must you love this man, he is your brother

This is easy to understand my son, there is no other

I cannot pretend to love this man like my father

I cannot pretend, mother there is no other

She said save me

Save me

Save me

Save me

When there is no truth let's end this lie tonight

This is easy to understand, without your best fight

But I see a new sun rising in the east

But I see a new sun rising in the east

She said save me

Save me

Save him
