so a crowd has gathered around us i'm pining one last kiss im struggling with the lifeline in the shadow of this bliss patience my love itll all be alright but aint it funny how the fates work i feel cheated by the turn still this love it hovers over us and the lessons that we've learned patience my love it'll all be alright we were lost inside a wasteland of fools groping for the gold i wonder if they'll think of us while theyre searching for their souls patience my love, it'll all be alright so never put it out my love the spirit is the flame that burns within hold on to it and it'll all be alright sleep now is descending like a dream still i'm shaking from the softness of your skin hold on to me it'll all be alright with your arms around me you're singing softly and i fade from memories and move on may nothing harm you i'm still inside you with my wings around you you'll go on sweet lover go on

sweet lover go on
my love be strong
