Losing sleep in a waking dream
A recurring face I see come to pass my way
Still, my heart, will you please be still, my heart?
In this world of change, you keep turning me 'round again

In my mind could it be that
I'm just a fool for love is blind to danger
Is this faith then why should I Hesitate when love would dance with a stranger?

Shout it loud from the rooftop high
Let it burn inside and try only to fade and die
If I knew all there was to learn every twist and turn
Why do I still try?
