We're small parts of each other, little parts of rain but if we stay in here it's all the same So sail on, 'til you find some place where you belong Just laugh and run
You say wait, I say let's go Your garden's gray, I'll color it for you
You and all around the neighborhood You'll call the stations bronze

And you say sorry I didn't mean to catch you in my bell
jar
Always on a crusade on my way to where the riots are We're all a little heartbroken, we're all a little small
But we try to stay up, aim for the sky
High blue
And we won't fall asleep in the snow

The wind it carries signs of change but oh so slowly
No matter how many dreams you throw up They're made of stone
So we may still be kids and dreamers but he's the kind of guy that makes kites in the shape of clouds
They all keep wondering why

And he says I'm sorry I didn't mean to catch you in my bell jar
Always on a crusade on my way to where the riots are We're all little heartbroken, we're all a little small
But we try to stay up, aim for the sky
High blue
And we won't fall asleep in the snow

The feels can hear so they should know Feathers dance before me
All these sold out shows, all much better tomorrow
He wears his heart on his sleeve but they won't hear us upstairs Too busy covering their mistakes
They can't see

And he says sorry I didn't mean to catch you in my bell
jar
but now that you're here, won't you try, how hard can it be to love me?
We're all a little heartbroken, we're all a little small
But we try to stay up, aim for the sky
High blue
And we won't fall asleep in the snow
